ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The 10th Global Summit on Nursing Education and Public Health (GSNEPH-2027) is an international platform bringing together nursing professionals, educators, researchers, healthcare leaders, public health experts, policymakers, and students from around the world.

Scheduled for April 12–13, 2027, in Tokyo, Japan, the summit is centered on the theme “Shaping the Future of Nursing and Public Health Through Education, Innovation, and Global Collaboration.”

Our summit aims to foster meaningful discussions, knowledge exchange, and professional collaboration around the evolving landscape of nursing education, healthcare innovation, and public health. Through keynote presentations, scientific sessions, oral and poster presentations, interactive discussions, and networking opportunities, participants can share research, clinical experiences, innovative practices, and emerging solutions.

We are committed to creating a global forum where education meets innovation, research drives better practice, and collaboration creates meaningful impact. The summit will explore emerging challenges and opportunities in nursing and public health while highlighting evidence-based approaches that can contribute to healthier communities and stronger healthcare systems worldwide.

Join us in Tokyo, Japan, to connect, learn, collaborate, and help shape the future of nursing and public health.
